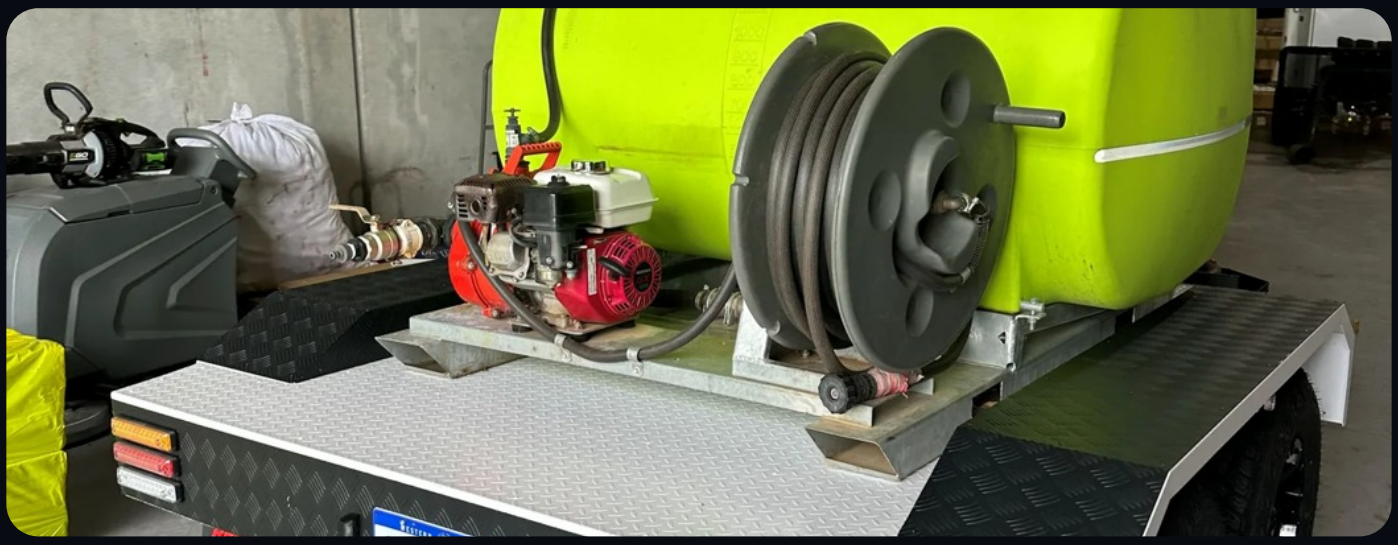
FIRE FIGHTING TRAILER / SHOWN BUILD + EQUIPMENT REFERENCE

Fire Fighting Trailer

Water. Pump. Reel. Plan the whole setup.

Use the pictured RedDirt build as a starting point for a water and fire-support trailer enquiry suited to your intended work.



Actual trailer build shown. The TTi reference-unit figures below are not complete-trailer ratings.

- Open checkerplate deck, tank/skid assembly, pump, reel and suction-hose tray.
- Discuss the complete trailer and water equipment together, not just the tank.

Confirm the fitted unit, complete trailer ratings and usable water load. Nominal tank capacity does not establish how much water the trailer can carry.

Check the details.

Tell us what the job demands.

1. Your intended water/fire-support task and operating/site requirements.
2. The final tank, pump and reel requirements and fitted-unit condition.
3. Complete trailer ratings, usable water load, tow vehicle and delivery postcode.

Fire-support use needs suitable equipment, trained operators and applicable site procedures. No emergency-service approval, certification or guaranteed firefighting performance is claimed.
